New Haven, July 19.—Bishop Goodsell of the Methodist Church, Ella
Wheeler Wilcox and her husband,
Robert M. Wilcox, Thomas G. Bennett and scores of other cottagers at Short Beach, Conn., six miles east of this city, held an indignation meeting Saturday night in the chapel at Short Beach to kick against the fish oil smell that floats over the Short Beachers from time to time from the Keisey Oil Company's works.

visitor for years. They are the leaders in the kick against the stench, and they say if it is not stopped cottages will be selling at a dollar each at the end of the season.

A week ago the cottagers appealed to the Superior Court and the oll company then agreed to make such changes in its equipment that the odor would not be strong enough to reach Short Beach. For a few days the air was free from the fish smell. Just as the summer colony had made up its mind there would be no more fish odor it began again worse than ever and the indignation meeting was called. It was agreed to engage counsel to go into the Superior Court in this city to fight for the suppression of the smell.

Trolley Car Strikes Ice Wagon: Stuns Driver

A trolley car struck an ice wagon owned by the City Ice & Coal Company, last night, at 11:30. The shock of the collision knocked down one of the team of horses attached to the wagon. John Badakin, the driver, of 605 Connecticut avenue, was stunned. The ambulance was called and he was taken to the emergency hospital. He was badly bruised, but his injuries seemed not to be severe. The wagon was placed so that a portion of it projected over the ralls. ed over the rails.

BY ST. ANNE SO WITNESSES REPORT

PRAYING IN THE CHURCH OF ST. JEAN BAP-NEW YORK, THINK RESTORED SIGHT TO RELIC BLIND WOMAN - LAME MAN SAID TO HAVE WALKED.

New York, July 19 .- Among the thousands who thronged the Church of St. Jean Baptiste, 159 West Seventy-sixth street, yesterday to attend the Novens an alleged mircle performed the day who had been present declared that a ed her way to the altar, had kissed the case that holds the relics of St. Anne, and had walked out with her sight restored.

For nine days before St. Anne's day, women, men and children, the lame, the blind, the deaf, flock from all over the city, and from the adjacent towns and country districts, to kiss the relics of St. Anne in the hope that thus their afflictions may be taken away.

Only in three other places on this

Only in three other places on this continent, are there relics of St. Anne, and so, in those nine days, the priests of St. Anne Jean Baptiste are busy from early morning to 10 o'clock at night, presenting the relics to be kissed, and touching the places that need to be cured with the round silver, glass-topped case that holds the wrist bones, as they say, of St. Anne.

bones, as they say, of St. Anne.
Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the witnesses declare, Mrs. Purcell entered the chapel dimly lighted with tered the chapel dimly lighted with candles. Two altar boys, James Clark of 345 Hudson avenue, and James Maher of 188 East Seventy-sixth street, saw her come in. They say she was a small slight woman, dressed entirely in black, well beyond middle ace, and that she groped her way with her hands, along the pews toward the altar, as though totally blind.

Many persons, men on crutches or tar, as though totally blind.

Many persons, men on crutches or tottering with sticks, palsied women, little children lame or deformed from birth, and many others seemingly not afflicted, were going toward the altar murmuring the responses as the priest intoned the service. The blind woman fell in behind the rest.

Finally, according to others who were in the church, she groped her way to the railing before the altar and knelt beside Mrs. Mary Brown of 421 Willis avenue. It came her turn at last, and the priest touched her eyes with the little case after she had kissed it and passed on, leaving the Fut Mrs. Brown and others stayed there to pray, and next to Mrs. Brown, praying in a whisper, stayed the blind woman. This is Mrs. Brown's story of what happened:

of what happened:
"I did not see her come in, and I did not know she was blind. I only noticed she was praying, and I don't noticed she was praying, and I don't think I noticed that really at the time, but afterward, for I was praying, too. "Then suddenly she cried out loud: "I see you, St. Anne! Oh, good St. Anne, I see you!"

"I caught her elbow, for I thought she might be ill, and every one else looked up. 'What's the matter?' I asked. And then she took hold of me and began to weep.

"'Why,' she said, holding to me as people crowded round. 'I see as well as "I was not thinking of my eyes,' she continued. I came to take the novena, to prepare for confession. I was thinking over my past mortal sins and praying for forgiveness by the five holv wounds of our Lord Jesus'—those were her very words," said Mrs. Brown.

"Then I lifted

I was so excited. She said she was a widow and had buried twelve children. She looked to be 60, perhaps.

"She went and sat in a pew, and teld everyone what St. Anne had done teld everyone what St. Anne had done for her, and then she prayed in a curious voice, so clear and happy. 'Glory and praise and thanks to good St. Anne and to our blessed Lord.' And when she did go out, she walked as straight as any one, not groping at all, and her eyes looked quite well, and the sight seemed to be in them."

They tell also of another miracle of that same day. The altar boys say there came into the church on crutches an aged man, somewhat deformed, who an aged man, somewhat deformed, who swung both legs together as he went to the altar. He, too, kissed the relics, and then got up, with his crutches in his hand, said nothing but looked amazed, and, although still misshaped, walked without his crutches to the door and drove off in his automobile. This man, the boys say, has come many times before to the church, and has before that often kissed the relics of St. Anne, yet they have never seen him able before to move without swinging on his crutches. Yet they could not give the man's name, and so they story was not confirmed. But the fathers in the parish house hed the fathers in the parish house had heard of both miracles, and particular-ly of that of the blind woman, though they had not witnessed it.

POLI'S

Another very strong play will be presented at Poli's this week, commencing with a matinee on Monday afternoon. That famous military drama counted as one of the best, with great thrilling situations, a battle with great thrilling situations, a battle between the government troops and a band of Sioux, "Northern Lights" is the bill and should be seen by every man, woman and child in Bridgeport. It tells a very interesting story and is replete with pathos and humor, strong situations, climaxes. Blooded horses, trained especially for the stage, and a company of local militia will help make this production an epoch in the Poli All Star Stock Season. in the Poll All Star Stock Season.

One of the happy features at Poli's during the Stock season is the illustrated songs rendered at every performance by that sweet voiced tenor, Ira Kessner, assisted by Master Joseph Daly. Their popularity with the Poli audiences is evidenced by the enthusiastic applianse that greets them every time they appear. New songs and the latest slides this week.

Miss Alice Fleming, who has the role of Helen Dare in "Northern Lights" will surely be greeted by her large army of friends during this her last week at Poli's. She has a fine part and will be sure to please her friends, whom she numbers by the thousand, all of whom regret that her health compels her to take a rest. health compels her to take a rest. They will all want to see her for the last times, wish her a speedy recovery, and a happy good bye.

DR. SALLMON SAYS PRESS SHOULD NOT ROAST THE CHINESE

Dr. William H. Sallmon in addressing the congregation at the South Church yesterday upon missionary work in China said: "The relation of Christianity to other faiths is not to supplant, but to supplement them. We must recognize what is good in Confucianism, the virtues it has inculcated while it has held Chinese society together through 2,000 years. Missions do not contemplate a transference of the West to the East, the imence of the West to the East, the im-position of our ecclesiastical system and theological thought but seek to add to the good things that they find, some things that are better, even the essential message of God's love and

Rev. William H. Sallmon, D.D., is a former pastor of the South Congrega-tional church. He appeared in the tional church. He appeared in the biack silk Geneva gown presented to him by the church society's committee seven years ago when he left the pastorate here to assume the presidency of Carleton College, Minn. His work in China has been along the lines of investigating and assisting the Yale Mission college founded by the graduates and under graduates of Yale at Chan-sho in the province of Yale at Chan-sho, in the province of Hunan. Ten years ago it was unsaf-for a foreigner to enter Hunan. To Hunan. Ten years ago it was unsafe for a foreigner to enter Hunan. Today there are seven missionary societies at work there. The Yale mission has purchased a property in the center of the city where the foundations of a University are being laid. Forty-eight students are enrolled under three foreign and three Chinese teachers, studying English and Chinese classica mathematics, geography, the Bible, physics, hygiene and physical training. Opposite the school is the mission hospital where the eighteen beds are filled. From 60 to 80 outside patients are treated at the hospital daily.

Dr. Sallmon deplored the attitude of the press in this country in arousing animosity toward a whole people because of the failure of an individual. On Wednesday night of this week Dr. Sallmon will speak at the South church upon religions of China as contrasted with Christianity.

CUTICURA REMEDIES CURED HER AT LAST

"When I was four years old a humor came out on my scalp. It would make a thick scab in one night, itching and burning terribly. My father spent many hundreds of dollars trying to find a doctor who could cure this humor, but none of them could ever help it even a little bit. At the age of fifteen years I had the measles, and after that the sore became maturated and I had to soak my hair out before I could comb it. My hair came off in spots and my head was in a bad shape.

"About this time a friend of my father suggested he try Cuticura for me. My father took this advice and bought the Cuticura Soap. Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. I used them faithfully and to my surprise they stopped the itching at once, like cold water to a burn: In a week my head was clean from the scab but was very red and inflamed, but I had experienced more relief from the terrible itching and burning than ever before. I did not expect to be cured, as I thought that nothing could do that, but I had to use something all the time and Cuticura was cheaper than doctors.

"After some time, to my surprise. I thing all the time and Cuticura was cheaper than doctors.

"After some time, to my surprise, I awoke to the fact that my head was cured. It was as free from the disease as though I had never suffered. I am now forty-two and have never had any sign of my old trouble since I was cured. I owe health, happiness and life to Cuticura. Every one thought it was incurable. I used to dream sometimes that I was cured but thought it never could be, but Cuticura made the dream come true. Fancy a child sitting up in bed until ten or eleven o'clock scratching her head! I couldn't help it either, the itching was so terrible, night and day. It is a wonder I lived through it, but I can prove all I have written by my old neighbors. Mrs. Florence E. at the play is doubled by a good pair of opera glasses. But a good pair is not what the average optician will call good. We have the only kind you can afford to buy. Come in and look over our stock. If you are seeking the highest at-

If you are seeking the highest at-tainable degree of knowledge and skill known to optical science it would be well for you to note that we are located in the Stratfield Hotel Bullding Proper. Not in any annex or adjoining building. Our name is PARISIAN OPTICAL Street, and it is to be found on our window and door. We self no jewelry. Ours is an EXCLU-SIVE optical store and we urge that you note these details carefully and assure you the most careful attention and complete satisfaction. We are all familiar with the old adage, "A word to the wise is sufficient."
